

Published: April 17, 2010
Updated: 4:30 p.m.

More than 600 help clean H.B. state beach

By EUGENE W. FIELDS
THE ORANGE COUNTY REGISTER

COMMENTS | RECOMMEND | PRINT | EMAIL | SHARE

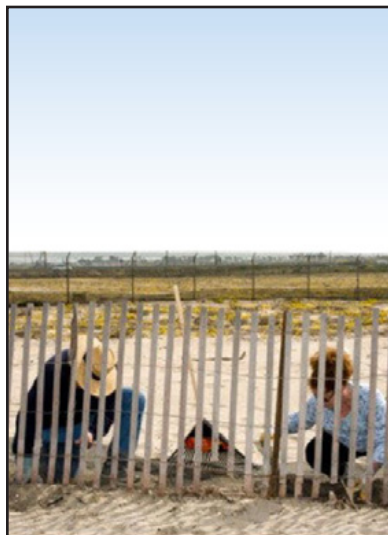

ARTICLE PHOTOS

HUNTINGTON BEACH – More than 600 volunteers picked up trash, mended broken fences and collected recyclables for three hours as part of Care for our Coast campaign’s Earth Day Clean-up on Saturday at Huntington Beach State Park.

The program was sponsored by Stater Bros. Markets, the Coca-Cola Bottling Company of Southern California and California State Parks to raise funds for beach clean-up, dune restoration, recycling and maintenance along the California coastline.

Some of the 600 volunteers pick up trash during the Care for our Coast campaign’s Earth Day Clean-up, Saturday, April 17 at Huntington Beach State Park.

Denise Rodriguez (r) and Joel Bradley repair the chick fence at the Least Tern Preserve during the Care for our Coast campaign’s Earth Day Clean-up, Saturday, April 17 at Huntington Beach State Park.

Derek and Tanley Hughes, 3-year-old twins from the Coca-Cola Bottling Company family are among 600 volunteers picking up trash during the Care for our Coast campaign’s Earth Day Clean-up, Saturday, April 17 at Huntington Beach State Park.